[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Dec. 3.—Adrianople was the obstacle which threatened to wreck parties between the plenipotentiaries of Turkey and the Balkan allies when they first opened at Baghche and Adrianople appeared again at the end of the negotiations as the most serious hindrance to the attainment of an agreement.

During the first session of the delegates the Turks absolutely refused to consider the surrender of the stronghold of Adrianople and when the Bulgarians subsequently yielded to them on this point the Greek delegates shrank back and demanded time in which to submit the question to the government at Athens.

The reason for the Hellenic objection to any such submission to the desires of the Ottoman representatives is not far to seek according to the opinion expressed in diplomatic circles.

It is pointed out that it is obvious that if the Bulgarians sacrifice the ultimate possession of Adrianople in the interests of general peace they will expect their allies to share their sacrifice and the only way in which this can be done is to give Bulgaria compensation in the shape of territory conquered by the Greeks, Servians and Montenegrins and which they staked out for themselves.

Hence the wall from Athens that any concessions to Turkey will endanger the fruits of victory gained by the allies—above all those of Greece and Servia.

Greeks Surprised.

Athens, Dec. 3.—Surprise and annoyance are expressed by the Greek newspapers at what they term the "complaisance shown by Bulgaria in accepting the Turkish proposals which are so advantageous to the Ottoman empire."

It is contended by many writers that the liberation of the Christian in the Orient is only obtainable by combined land and sea action of the allies against Constantinople.

Will Be Signed.

Sofia, Dec. 3.—The armistice will be signed today at Baghche on the lines of Tchaatalja with or without Greece being a party to it, according to information from authoritative quarters here. Greece will be left to continue the war against Turkey alone if she so desires.

It is stated here that the representatives of the allied Balkan nations have acceded to the request of the Turks that the peace negotiations take place in London.

As To Roumania.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—Crown Prince Ferdinand of Roumania accompanied by General Albert Robesco of the Roumanian army arrived here unexpectedly today. The prince was the guest of Emperor William at luncheon and in the course of today and tomorrow will confer with Albert von Kollerlin Waegster, imperial secretary for foreign affairs and of the German statesmen.

Peace or War.

Sofia, Dec. 3.—The final meeting of the plenipotentiaries representing the allied Balkan nations, and Ottoman empire is to be held at the village of Baghche, on the Tchaatalja lines at 4 o'clock today. The protocol for an armistice between the belligerents for the purpose of permitting them to enter into peace negotiations is to be signed at that hour or hostilities will at once be recommenced. In official circles here it is thought likely the protocol will be signed.

Expect War.
Geneva, Switzerland, Dec. 3.—Even Switzerland appears to be preparing for the eventuality of war. The federal government is filling the various military storehouses with wheat and corn ordered from the United States and Canada. A large quantity consisting of 572 carloads is on the way to Zurich from Rotterdam, while other cargoes ordered by the Swiss government are still afloat. The hostilities in the Balkans have had the effect of greatly reducing Russian shipments of grain.

JOHNSON TO MARRY
THE CAMERON GIRL

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, this afternoon obtained a license to marry Lucile Cameron, the Minneapolis white girl, who has been identified with Johnson's recent triumph in the federal court. The wedding is set for tonight. Johnson made his first application to L. C. Legner, clerk of the marriage license office. Miss Cameron was not with him, and when the prize fighter stated that she would not be 19 years until February, the clerk following a rule of the office in such cases of not issuing a license unless the girl is present to swear to her age, declined to issue the permit. The negro then applied to Robert A. Switzer, county clerk who overruled Mr. Legner and Johnson went away grinning with the documents safely stowed away in an inside pocket. Johnson explained to the county clerk that the records in court show that the Cameron girl is over 18 years of age. Johnson gave his own age as 34. A hooting crowd followed the negro out of the building.

To Photograph Wedding.
When Chief of Police McWeener, was informed that a moving picture concern had arranged to photograph the wedding he declared that if possible to do so he would prevent the exhibition of the pictures in this city. "The whole disgusting affair is opposed to public policy and immoral generally," said the chief of police.

DELAY IN WORK ON RAILROAD BRIDGE

Work on the joint railroad bridge across Rock river to replace the present structure used by the Chicago & Northwestern and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads, has been delayed somewhat and will not be commenced until the first part of next week. The delay is due to the fact that the iron crew which was to have started work on the bridge immediately, was summoned elsewhere on an emergency job, and cannot take up this work here until next week. The cross-over tracks and switches for the transfer of Northwestern trains over the St. Paul side have been installed, but will not be used until work on the bridge is commenced. Bridge materials, piling for the false work, steel and other equipment for the construction of the new bridge has arrived or is on the way, and the contractor who will put in the cement piers for the bridge, has part of his equipment here, and will bring a force of from twenty-five to thirty men here next Tuesday or Wednesday to start active operations.

HELD UP AND ROBBED
AT RAILWAY STATION
HERE LAST EVENINGSidney Barry Knocked Down and Robbed of Forty Dollars at Northwestern Depot—
George Worley
Held.

Not five minutes after he had concluded a slight business transaction with a stranger, Sidney Barry, a Janesville man, was held up by the man whom he accommodated and was robbed of forty dollars which he carried on his person. The assault and robbery took place at the Northwestern depot soon after midnight. Barry, who was waiting for a train to Oregon, sold a pair of buckskin mittens to a strange young man there for sixty-five cents. As he made change the stranger evidently noticed that he carried a considerable amount of money. Barry soon afterwards went outside, leaving by the door of the men's waiting room. As he passed between the depot and the baggage building some one attacked him from the rear with such violence that he was thrown off the platform to the roadway, and fell upon his face. His assailant then jumped upon him, seized him by the throat to prevent his making an outcry, and went through his pockets. This done he released his hold and ran away through the yards.

Patrolman Harry Smith, who was first to be informed of the robbery by Mr. Barry. He conveyed the information to the station and in company with Officers John Brown and Tom Morrissey made a trip up through the yards in the patrol wagon. It was thought that the thug might be waiting at the sandhouse to take a train out of town.

Mr. Barry insisted that the man who attacked him was the young man to whom he sold the mittens, and the descriptions given by him led the police to search for George Worley, who was found about two o'clock in bed at the home of his sister on Palm street. He denied the charge of robbery and the money was not found in his effects, but he admitted being in the depot and speaking to Barry. He also had the mittens he bought in his possession.

Worley was arraigned in the municipal court this morning, charged with stealing forty dollars from Sidney Barry by force of arms, but without a dangerous weapon. He reaffirmed his declaration of innocence. As the offense is one which is punishable by imprisonment in the state's prison, Judge Efield informed him that he was entitled to a hearing to determine whether he should be held for trial. This was set for ten o'clock tomorrow morning. As he was unable to furnish the $300 bail demanded, Worley was remanded to jail. He is known to the police, having been engaged in disturbances at the depots on previous occasions.

ARCHBOLD TRIAL IS STARTED BY SENATENINTH TIME IN HISTORY OF THIS NATION SENATE CONVENES AS HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

13 CHARGES ARE MADE

Case is of National Interest and Was Adjoined at Request of the Defendant's Attorneys.

Washington, Dec. 3.—For the 9th time in its history the senate convened as a high court of impeachment to try Judge Robert Archbold of the commerce court, on 13 separate charges alleged to constitute "high crime and misdemeanor." Counsel for the judge have admitted commission of all the acts alleged but denied that any was improper.

Judge Archbold and his attorneys entered the chamber promptly as did the house managers. The court adopted formal orders setting the hour of meeting daily at two o'clock and providing that the opening statement of the case should be made by one person on each side. The court then recessed until two o'clock after a session of about five minutes.

The charge against Judge Archbold arose in connection with private and official acts both as a judge of the Court of Commerce and as United States District Judge for Middle Pennsylvania. He was impeached by the House of Representatives after a full investigation of the facts by the Department of Justice, and extended hearings before the House Judiciary Committee.

The managers appointed by the House to prosecute the case before the Senate asked for an immediate trial last August but the Senate declined to hasten its consideration of the case. During the last week scores of subpoenas were issued for witnesses who will be brought before the Senate by the House managers and by Judge Archbold's attorneys in connection with the trial.

After the House Committee on Judiciary had concluded its hearings last spring it recommended that Judge Archbold be called before the Senate under impeachment proceedings. The last time the House had exercised its impeachment powers was in 1904 when Judge Swann, United States Judge for the Northern District of Florida, was called to account for misconduct and was acquitted by the Senate. The House of Representatives on July 11, 1912 adopted articles of impeachment by a vote of 223 to 1 and a committee headed by Representative Clayton of Alabama, was chosen to act as the manager on the part of the House to try the case before the Senate. The House manager urged the Senate to grant an immediate trial but that body declined to hear the case before the end of the last session.

Thirteen separate articles constitute the basis for the impeachment trial. These embrace dealings between Judge Archbold and railroad officials and others in regard to Pennsylvania coal or "culm" dumps and coal lands; contributions by attorneys and others to the judge's vacation trip to Europe in 1910; reputed "secret" correspondence between the judge with a railroad attorney concerning a pending case; and alleged attempts to have notes payable to Judge Archbold discounted by attorneys and litigants before his court.

In presenting the case to the House Representative Clayton said that the Judiciary Committee was of opinion that Judge Archbold's "sense of moral responsibility had become deadened" and that he had "prostituted his high office for personal profit." The principal charge grew out of the Katydid Culp bank deal. In this charge it was asserted that while the Erie railroad company had pending before the Commerce Court two suits, Judge Archbold corrupted taking advantage of his official position, induced the officials of the Hillside Coal & Iron Company and of the Erie railroad which owned that company, to agree to sell the coal company's interest in the Katydid dump to Judge Archbold and Edward J. Williams.

In his answer Judge Archbold denied that he had acted corruptly, or had taken advantage of his position. His attorneys took the position that it was not a crime for a federal judge to become interested in a suit, or to purchase property from one who was or might become a litigant before his court. They declared that no attempt was made to get the property for less than its fair value.

Another prominent charge was that Judge Archbold undertook for a consideration to assist George M. Watson. (Continued on page 7.)

PRESIDENT OF IRON
WORKERS ON STANDFrank M. Ryan Took Stand Today in Dynamite Conspiracy Trial Telling of Alleged "Robbery" of Office.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Dec. 3.—Frank M. Ryan, president of the iron workers' union testified at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today that his office was "robbed" by detectives when J. J. McNamara, the secretary was arrested in April, 1911. Ryan asserted he had no suspicions McNamara had stored explosives at the union headquarters said he protested when officials of the National Erectors' Association joined in activities in searching files and while he was endeavoring to find the combination of the safe he said a cracksmen proceeded to drill the lock. Meanwhile McNamara was being hurried to California. During the search of the premises Ryan said he sent for his attorney and compelled the authorities to produce search warrants. Eighty-two warrants, of which Ryan later was found in a vault. Ryan also denied as had been charged that McNamara was a "robber" as early as 1906. W. T. Jerome, then district attorney of New York, had given warning that explosions were being done by the iron workers.

Cross examined, Ryan was asked what he meant in writing from New York in April, 1909 in union headquarters, "I will not have a report this month. Nearly all my work cannot be referred to." The government charges that as head of the union Ryan from New York was directing union officials in other cities about jobs to be blown up. "I meant by that I was trying to settle disputes among the iron workers in New York," answered Ryan, "and I didn't think it wise for members in other cities to know there was so much dissension in the ranks."

Ryan added he gave little attention to the $1,000 a month used by McNamara and for which no accounting was required.

In 1864 he was gazetted lieutenant, and from that time his rise was rapid. During the Fenian raid he was in command of the Queen's Own at the Lime Ridge action. In the Northwest rebellion he was in charge of the column that relieved Battleford. In 1899 he was given command of the first Canadian contingent raised for service in South Africa.

SUN CULT LEADER WILL BE TRIED NEXT WEEK.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 3.—Preparations are being made for the trial in the Federal court here next week of Ottoman War Adush Hanish, leader and founder of the Mazdaznan sun cult. Hanish is under four indictments, charging violations of the postal laws by the sending of incense literature, including the Inner Studies through the mails.

The trial of the accused is awaited with considerable interest, inasmuch as the members of the cult are said to include maidens and matrons of social prominence, not only in Chicago but in Massachusetts and in Canada, where Mazdaznan colonies have existed. Hanish, the founder of the cult, had led his followers to believe that he was born in Persia and reared in a monastery by followers of Zoroaster. As a matter of fact, it has been established that he is the son of Richard E. Hanish, an aged musician of Milwaukee, in poor circumstances.

GIVES WARNING NOTE TO EUROPEAN POWERSPRESIDENT TAFT INSISTS ON MUTUALITY IN COMMERCIAL RELATIONS WITH FOR-EIGN COUNTRIES.

DIPLOMACY QUESTIONS

Alone Are Considered in Annual Message Which is First of a Series on Matters of Foreign Policy.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Dec. 3.—A note of warning to European powers which by indirect means continue to discriminate against American trade, a strong appeal to the congress to uplift the great foreign policies of America above the mere questions of partisanship; a triumphant vindication of the diplomacy of the administration which is characterized as that of "dollars" rather than "barrels"; a masterful pride in the enormous expansion of American trade as a result of the foreign policies of his administration; and an earnest appeal for joint action by congress and the executive to open new markets for American industries—these are the more striking features of President Taft's fourth annual message sent to Congress today.

The message is the first of a series of such communications which he will make to congress in the early days of the session, and deals entirely with the foreign relations of the United States. Beginning with the usual reference to the existing good relations with foreign powers, the president adds that these have been strengthened by a greater insistence upon justice to American citizens or interests, wherever they may have been denied, and a stronger emphasis of the need of mutuality in commercial and other relations.

For the first time in its history says the president, the state department has obtained substantially the most favored nation treatment from all of the countries of the world. Therefore he says, that it is only natural that that competitive countries should view with some concern the expansion of our commerce. Hence the warning, "In some instances, the measures taken by them to meet it are not entirely equitable, a remedy should be found."

To this end, the president strongly recommends the enactment of the bill recommended by Secretary Knox last December, permitting the government, instead of imposing the full maximum rates of duty against discriminating countries, to apply a graduated scale of duties, up to that maximum of 25 per cent.

"Flat tariffs are out of date," says the president. "Nations no longer accord equal tariff treatment to all other nations, irrespective of the treatment from them received. It is very necessary that the American government should be equipped with weapons of negotiation, and adapted to modern economic conditions."

The state department, "an archaic and inadequate machine," at the beginning of this administration, the president says, has become a new organization, with highly specialized bureaus and experts dealing with every phase of American trade and diplomacy. Holding that the essence of this reorganization service is found in the merit system, which President Cleveland is credited with having introduced, President Taft makes a strong appeal to congress to make this machine permanent, by giving the force of statutory law to the executive orders governing admission to and promotion in the diplomatic and consular services.

To show that these appointments are already largely non-partisan, the president points to the fact that three of the present ambassadors are hold overs; that of the ten he has appointed, five were by promotion from the rank of minister; that of the thirty ministers appointed, eleven were promotions; and that in the consular service no less than 55 per cent of the consuls appointed by him were from the so-called states. "The diplomacy of the present administration has sought to respond to modern ideas of commercial intercourse," says President Taft. "This policy has been characterized as substituting dollars for bullets. It is one that appeals alike to idealistic humanitarian sentiments, to the dictates of sound policy and strategy, and to the legitimate commercial aims."

The president adds that "because modern diplomacy is commercial there has been a disposition in some quarters to attribute to it, none but materialistic aims."

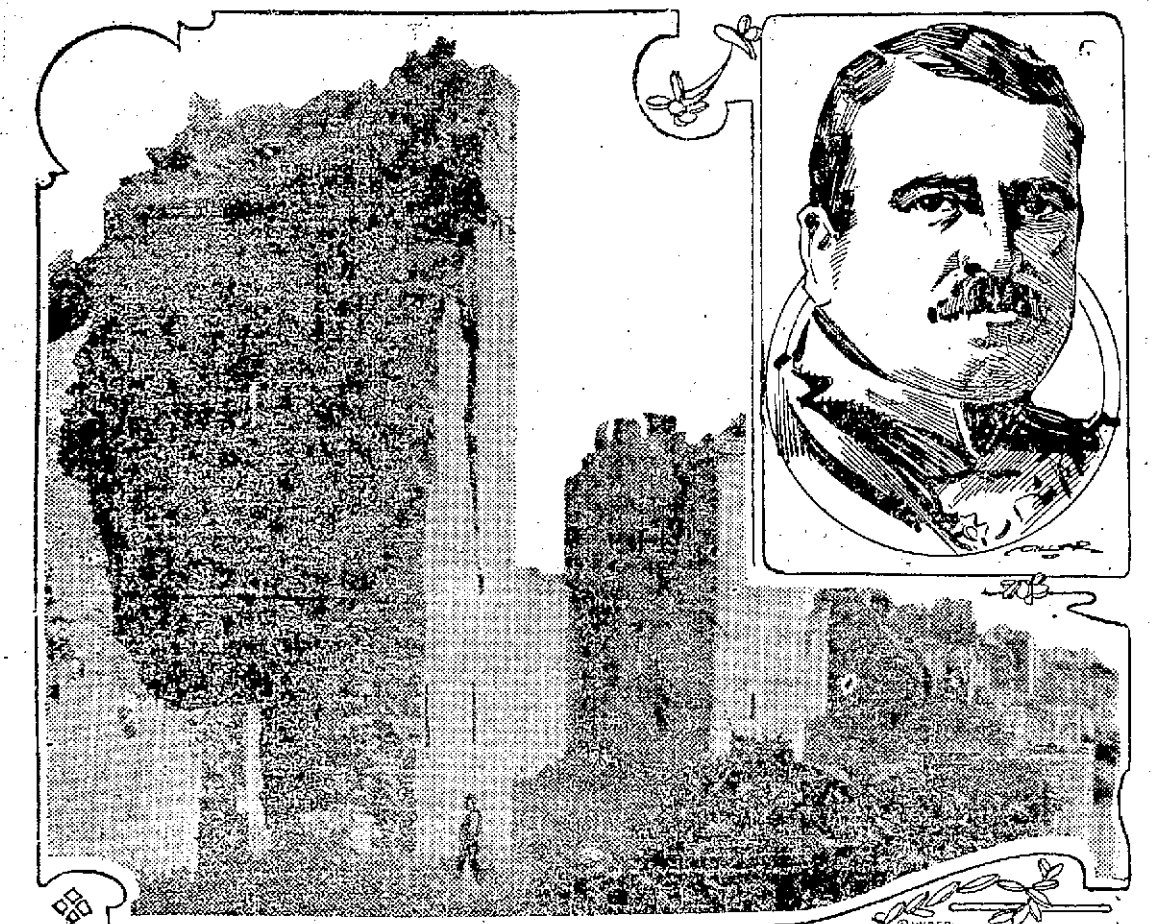

"How strikingly erroneous is such an impression may be seen from a study of the results by which the diplomacy of the United States can be judged," says the president.

He mentions the arbitration treaties with France and Great Britain, which failed of confirmation in the senate; the successful maritime mediation of the Argentine Republic, Brazil, and the United States, between Peru and Ecuador; the arbitration of the Panama-Costa Rica boundary dispute; the intervention between Haiti and the Dominican Republic on the verge of war, the suppression of the Nicaraguan war, the halting of internecine strife in Honduras, the adjustment of the celebrated Tacna-Arica dispute between Peru and Chile, and the adjustment of the Peruvian-Ecuadorian boundary issue.

In consequence of these things, says the president, there has been a general easing of international tension on the west coast of South America. He also adds that the diplomacy of the United States is active in seeking, to assuage the remaining ill feeling between this country and Colombia.

Taking up some of the details of the year's diplomatic work, the

ANCIENT FORTS SURROUNDING CONSTANTINOPLE COULD NOT LONG WITHSTAND THE TERRIFIC ASSAULTS OF A MODERN ARMY.

Line of Turkish forts just outside Constantinople and "Napoleon" Demitrief, one of the leading generals of Bulgarian army.

The accompanying picture shows the Theodosian wall and a few of its 116 fighting towers, of which about ninety still stand, though cracked. It extends for five miles from the Golden Horn, Constantinople, and exists for the purpose of protecting the Turkish capital from a hostile army. It is the consensus of opinion, however, that this wall with its ancient and crumbling forts will not withstand the terrific assaults expected from the Bulgarians if peace is not soon made.

General Dimitrief, who is one of the leaders of the Bulgarian army, has the nickname "Napoleon" and deserves it. He is the one who led the successful attack against Kirk Killisse.

ENTERTAINED AT A LUNCHEON MONDAY

Rev. and Mr. John Reynolds Entertained Stewards of Janesville District of M. E. Church.

Rev. and Mrs. L. Reynolds entertained the Stewards of the Janesville District at luncheon yesterday in the parlors of the Cargill Methodist church. The largest number of number of representatives ever recorded from the forty places in the district were in attendance, and the business meeting which followed was one of the most harmonious and profitable ever held here.

As this is the last year of Mr. Reynolds' superintendency, according to the law of the Methodist Episcopal church, a special effort was made to bring as many as possible together. This sixth annual report showed that while in the six counties embraced in the district, over thirty churches of different denominations have been abandoned, only one of them was the property of the denomination represented at that gathering. In the past six years the membership in the church and Sunday school has appreciably increased, the salaries have advanced at the rate of over a thousand dollars a year, that church debts have been reduced from forty thousand to ten thousand dollars, and that the gifts to missions and other benevolent causes of the church have advanced in the same proportion.

Salaries were fixed, and claims apportioned for the connexional work and by an unanimous rising vote the administration of the superintendency was endorsed. After a stirring address from Dr. Zaring, editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate the meeting closed.

Balance of $36 in Treasury of Associated Charities As Winter Season Begins.

The Associated Charities of Janesville have a balance of $36.77 in their treasury with which to begin the winter season, according to their report which has just been published and sent out to the members. The disbursements up to Nov. 19, 1912, amounted to $141.54, covering a period of over a year.

Part of the work of the organization is visitation and committees have been appointed to look after the needy in the various wards as follows:

First ward: Mrs. E. D. Tallman, Miss Reddy and Miss Sweney. Second ward: Miss Julia Warren, Miss Pease and Miss Allen Lovejoy. Third ward: Mrs. Josephine Carle Baird, Miss Louise Merrill and Miss Marjorie Mount. Fourth ward: Mrs. George Devins, Mrs. Arthur Jones and Mrs. Frank Van Kirk. Fifth ward: Mrs. Thomas Burns, Mrs. Arthur Jones, Mrs. Frank Van Kirk.

The officers of the Associated Charities are: Rev. Henry Willman, president; J. G. Rexford, treasurer; Miss Cornelia Reddy, secretary; Dr. Chas. Sutherland, visiting physician, and Miss Agnes Anderson, visiting nurse.

An appeal for the support of the public is made in the report. "The Associated Charities is not willing to undertake the support of any family, but if at any time through illness or misfortune, it can render timely aid and thus encourage struggling citizens to become self-supporting it serves a noble purpose. This can only be accomplished through the support of the public. A lack of interest often being due to an ignorance of existing conditions."

CITY MANAGER PLANS LATEST INNOVATION

Prof. Ely and Dr. McCarthy Predict Commission Form Won't Last And Outlines New System.

A new plan of government for cities which will be more effective than the "council" or even the "commission" plan, was proposed in interview today with Prof. Richard T. Ely, the noted economist of the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. Charles McCarthy of the legislative reference library. The idea embodies the election of a common council, as at present, but this body will select a professional mayor, the mayor or "business manager" of the city, as he would be called, would be chosen upon merit and special fitness.

Predicts Adoption.

"I am no prophet but I believe the plan may be adopted in this country in the next few years," said Dr. Ely. "It has worked very successfully in cities in Germany. The idea is simple. Today a big corporation's board of directors selects its president or manager from any place in the world according to merit or fitness. The board of regents of a university searches all over the country for a competent president. The city should have a professional mayor."

Dr. McCarthy was even more emphatic in discussing the merits of the plan, pointing to the success of Sumner, S. C., and Stanton, Va., where it is in operation.

Commission Won't Last.

"The commission form of government as applied to cities is not going to last," he declared. "Another form will take its place. I say this for the reason that the three commissioners are not especially expert. Responsibility cannot be centered on any one man. I think we should have the city manager plan. We can have an elective council as now, and this council can select the mayor. The council will be responsible to the people for the selection of a competent business manager, or mayor. In some cities of Germany, cities advertise for mayoral candidates. There could be a state law fixing the qualifications of the mayor. They might be made to pass an examination to determine his experience and qualifications. In this way the city will get a man who knows his business. Men who have made good in smaller cities will be promoted to positions in larger cities."

"Such a plan will develop the honorable profession of city managers, as in Germany. It means more democracy for the people with greater efficiency."

Transacted Business of Janesville District of Methodist Episcopal Church For the Year.

District Stewards of the Janesville District of the Methodist Episcopal church in Wisconsin met with District Superintendent John Reynolds in this city yesterday and transacted the business of the district for the year. There are thirty-nine churches in the district and from twenty to twenty-five of these were represented at yesterday's meeting, each by one delegate. This is the last year of the Rev. Reynolds' term as District Superintendent and a committee was appointed to draft resolutions expressing appreciation for his services. The District Stewards apporportioned the benevolences to the different churches of the district and considered other matters in which they were directly interested.

HE WAS A JEW—and a Soldier. Scorned and ridiculed, hazed and insulted, his poor heart nearly failed him, borne up only by the childish sympathy and affection of the Colonel's little girl. The crisis in his life is reached when, in a disastrous fight with the Indians, the soldiers are compelled to fly for their lives before the advancing hordes of Indians and the Colonel's horse is shot under him. The Jew lifts his commander to the saddle and attempts to save both, but the load is too heavy and he leaps from the horse and forces the Colonel to ride on. Entrenched behind rocks on a hilltop he fights for his life, and when reinforcements arrive and rescue him he is terribly wounded. Through the tender care of the Colonel's family he is restored to health and is promoted for his bravery. The happiest moment of his life is when the troop gathers under his window and cheers him.

"I don't think there is any pitcher in the country that can approach Johnson of Washington for speed, curves and control," recently remarked Manager Stovall of the St. Louis Browns. "I am a very fair hitter, but when Johnson was pitching I could not do much. About the first ball he pitched would be a beamer at my head and I would fall to the ground. Of course, the next two he would put over, but I was afraid of them, like everyone else is. It is his speed that scares you. Of all the pitchers I have ever batted against he is the hardest to hit, for half the time the ball slips by you before you can see it."

Kid Williams of Baltimore, who aspires to wear the bantam crown, has had fifty-three fights and has never been beaten. He has to his credit thirty-four knockouts. Only two opponents have been able to secure draws with him. Among his victims are Banty Lewis, Kid Murphy, Barry Hill, Tommy Buck and Kid Kelly.

The Carlisle Indian football team made a nice bunch of money during the season just closed. The United States government, which supports the school, does not appropriate a cent for athletics. Enough must be made from football not only to support the football squad and pay all necessary expenses of coaches, etc., but to defray the costs of all the other athletics teams. This is always done.

CAMP PUTS BADGER ON ALL-AMERICAN

Butler of Wisconsin Eleven Only Western Man Placed on First Team—Hoefel on Second.

Butler of the Wisconsin eleven, is the only western football star who is placed on Walter Camp's All-American team for 1912. In regard to Butler's playing the eastern sporting writer says:

"Butler of Wisconsin was the best tackle in the Middle West this year, and that is saying a good deal, as there were not only teammates of his but men like Trickey of Iowa and Camp of his own pushing him for the place. He was powerful, active and excellent at sizing up plays, good at blocking his man and dangerous in his breaking through."

Last year not a western man was considered worthy of a place on mythical first squad. The first eleven of Camp's choice follows:

Ends, Felton of Harvard and Bomelsier of Yale; tackles, Englehorn of Dartmouth and Butler of Wisconsin; guards, Pennock of Harvard and Logan of Princeton; center, Ketchum of Yale; quarter, Crowther of Brown; halfbacks, Brickley of Harvard and Thorpe of Carlisle; fullback, Mercer of Pennsylvania.

In the second eleven Camp places Hoefel of Wisconsin as one of the ends. Other western men on the second team are: Trickey of Iowa and Norgren of Chicago.

CARDINALS DEFEAT BLUES IN TWO GAMES LAST NIGHT

The Cardinals had an easy time taking two games from the Blues in their match at Hockett's alleys last evening. The Cardinals won both their games by substantial leads. Richards had high score for the evening with 199 pins to his credit in the last game. Following are the scores:

When Manager Jimmy Dunn went to Cleveland four short years ago he was moneyless, unhonored and unsung. Today he is managing a champion boxer whom he made—Johnny Kilbane—and has the largest stable of boxers in the world. He has too a new $7,000 home, a white six automobile, and a fat bank account. Besides Kilbane, Dunn is caring for the interests of Cal Delaney, Kid Julian, Otto Yacknow and Bobby Pittsley, featherweights; Otto Kohler, Battling Shultz, Battling Mantell, Tommy McGinty and Kid Andrews, lightweight; Danny Dunn and Willie Chandler, bantams; Duke Clark, Paddy Lavin, Howard Morrow, Danny O'Donnell and Hugh Ross, middleweights.

Styles change. This is true among fighters, the same as any other sort of people. Back in the days of Fitzsimmons and Corbett, and even in the days of Sullivan, the gag was to have two fighters, matched to battle, meet on the street and insult one another, try to get at one another and furnish a "scene" good for a bunch of publicity.

Now how different! When two fighters, matched for battle happen to meet in the street they shake hands with each other, smile sweetly, discuss the weather, perhaps remark on the beauties of the landscape, shake hands again, and then pass on their several ways in peace.

THREATENED TO LEAP FROM HIGH BRIDGE

Young Man Taken Into Custody at Edgerton Found Insane and Taken to Mendota.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton Dec. 3.—A young man, whose name it was learned was John Tietze and whose parents reside near La Crosse, started trainman at the passenger depot Saturday noon when he threatened to jump from the railroad bridge. He was taken into custody and stating that he lived near La Crosse, inquiry was made at the La Crosse police department with the result that his father arrived Sunday morning to take charge of the young man. The son refused to accede to his father's request to return home and it was finally decided to take him to Janesville to have him examined for his sanity. He was pronounced insane by Doctors Buckmaster and Munn and was taken to Mendota.

Tietze had been missing from home since Tuesday of last week and his relatives had been searching the country to find him. He was discharged from the state hospital for the insane in California only five weeks ago, having committed to that institution in September. He is 26 years old and has served four years in the U. S. navy.

ANSWERS LAST CALL

Patrick Gagan, Resident of City Since 1853, Passes Away Here Late Yesterday Afternoon.

Patrick Gagan, one of the few remaining men whose names are closely associated with early Janesville history, passed from life at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. He was over eighty-five years of age, and had been a resident of the city since 1853. Mr. Gagan was born in Ireland in 1829, was married there, and came to the United States in 1852. The voyage at that time was long and tedious, the passage across the Atlantic taking twenty-nine days. Mr. and Mrs. Gagan spent several weeks in New York and some time in the inland towns of the state. They then came to Chicago. As the city was in the grip of cholera they came on to Milwaukee. A year later Mr. Gagan visited Janesville and decided to make his home here. He entered the employ of the Rock County nursery, continuing with them for four years. Later he purchased the establishment and conducted it in connection with his farm for over thirty years. After the death of Mrs. Gagan in 1909, Mr. Gagan moved to Janesville, and since that time has made his home on Lunan street. Surviving him are four sons and seven daughters. They are: John, Frank, Henry, and William Gagan; Mrs. B. J. Kellogg; Mrs. J. J. Rooney, Mrs. B. J. Kellogg; Mrs. Edward McDermott, and Misses Jennie and Ella Gagan of this city and Anna Gagan of Chicago. Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock Wednesday morning and interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

FARM WEALTH.

The farmer who bought his land forty or fifty years ago, in any of the western states, endured the privations of pioneer life, but was amply repaid for the investment by the steady advance in real estate. The following, from a farm journal, is typical of many similar investments.

"Some farmers are doing so well in the old way that they are pretty well satisfied. I met an old Iowa friend a few months ago, a man whom I knew when I was a boy. He is a good farmer. He is making money. He was, at the time, on his way home from Chicago, where he went with a few carloads of hogs and returned with a new automobile. He reads the farm papers. But he has no silo.

"Well, my old friend had no high charge for interest. He bought his land half a century ago for less than $5 an acre, and owes no man. He can afford to follow any system he pleases so long as it affords him a living and doesn't deplete the soil. But if he had to make a living and pay for the land at $150 an acre—which is what his farm is worth—or if he had to pay rent on the basis of interest on $150 an acre, and make a living on top of that, he would have to have a silo. Or, in some way he would have to utilize every ounce of crop grown on the farm.

"He is in easy circumstances, because he was willing to be in hard circumstances fifty years ago when Iowa was a good deal of a wilderness. Progress doesn't worry him because he doesn't have to pay any attention to it. He is doing business on $150-an-acre land at an expense of $5—that is, he has a lead of $145 an acre over the competition which progress has established."

The young man who buys land today, pays the advanced price, and is forced to adopt scientific methods to play even with the game. While the day of cheap land has passed, the day of intensified farming has but dawned, and wonderful strides will be made in this direction, during the next decade.

The oldest farming countries possess the advantage of being within easy access of the markets, and if the land can be made to produce double what it has been yielding, there is still good money in working it.

A carload of western apples was recently received by a local dealer. It contained something over 700 boxes, but the freight was $336.00, nearly fifty cents per box. Much of this western fruit is rotting on the ground because the grower can not afford to ship it.

The same conditions prevail in the South, and in a plentiful season much of the crop of fruit and vegetables goes to waste, for lack of a market. Many people invest in southern and western land, without taking these conditions into account.

Time will not effect much of a remedy because the markets will continue to be in the east. Better stay by the old farm and double its production, than to be led away by tempting offers, which never materialize. The old farmer made his money on the rise of land. The new generation must solve the problem by intelligent farming.

OSHKOSH LIKES IT.

According to the Northwestern, commission government in Oshkosh has proved a conspicuous success, and the Sawdust city would not think of returning to the old aldermanic plan. In a recent editorial respecting the matter, the Northwestern says among other things:

"The people here seem to be generally well pleased and satisfied with the new order of affairs. The centralized control and responsibility have proved of unquestioned value in the handling of many matters connected with the city's business, and the latter is now conducted in a distinctly more businesslike manner than it was when politics and aldermanic wire-pulling exerted their influence. All this has been entirely eliminated, prompt and efficient service is the rule, and, best of all, the net result promises to be an actual saving to the city, as a result of prudent economy and careful supervision of finances, contracts, purchases and incidental expenses."

What is true of Oshkosh is true of every other city under commission rule, including Janesville. True, because the principle is right for it is founded on a business basis and is free from politics. The Gazette is anxious to publish the complaint, attached to the recall petitions being circulated, so that the people may know how absurd the charges are.

It is just as easy to complain, as it is to ask questions, and there is but little tax on the brain connected with either occupation. The Janesville commission has been in office for about eight months. The work accomplished is commendable as will be admitted by every unprejudiced mind.

It is perfectly natural that men who have a grievance, should be dissatisfied, but the character of the grievance should be considered, before the commission is criticised. The great majority of people in any city obey the law because they respect it, and Janesville is no exception to the rule.

JUST FOR FUN.

Some funny things happen in the schools these days, as the result of examinations for defective vision, and other evidences of physical weakness. The following little story is going the rounds of the press:

"Miss Merrill, a teacher in a grade school, had trouble with Johnnie last week. Johnnie had trouble doing his work and the authorities finally discovered that his sight was defective. Miss Merrill took Johnnie and sent him home with a note to his mother. He gazed at the note in horror, then at the teacher and burst into tears. The note read:

"Johnnie has astigmatism; do not let him return to school until he has been attended to."

"Miss Merrill understood his grief better when she received a note from his mother. It read:

"I don't know what he had done, but I licked him for it. I can't find it on him, and he says he ain't got it; now you better lick him and see if you can find it."

President Taft will be just as good a republican on the fourth of March, as he was when elected. He believes in the future of the party, and will do all in his power to harmonize the contending elements. The causes which led to his defeat are of history, and as time advances the man responsible will find but little satisfaction in reviewing the situation. President Taft will retire from office without political ambitions, so far as the future is concerned, but with loyalty to the party which honored him, and he will grow in the estimation of the people, as time advances.

It is easy to drift with the tide and the trouble with us as a city, is that we have been drifting so long that many of us lack ambition or inclination to turn about and stem the current. It requires moral courage and some effort to reform a city, and it can only be accomplished by united action. The success of the reform work now in progress depends on combined intelligent service for the public good. It should command the support of every law-respecting citizen.

After removing the cuspidors from the court room, and offering a prayer, a jury of twelve women proceeded to try a case at Eldorado, Kansas. The case had already been before the court, and after a three days' session the jury of twelve men failed to agree. It took the women three hours to unite on a verdict. The women of Kansas are to be congratulated on their first experience in the jury box.

By a decision of the supreme court yesterday, the railroads of the country are to be unscrambled, in an effort to restore competition. If the plan works as well as it did with the Standard Oil company and the sugar combine, the railroads will have no cause for complaint. The ultimate consumer usually pays the freight, and no lay has yet been discovered to shift the burden.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.

Abe Renfrew had the gol blamdest time to-day tryin' to shoot a weasel that had been robbin' of his hen coop. He laid for Mr. Weasel for some time and last Wednesday evening he see him a crawlin' careful like up to the coop. Abe took his shotgun and started after him. The weasel see Abe instantly and started for the silo. Abe gave chase and when the weasel started runnin' around the silo Abe started runnin' round, too. The weasel is one of the swiftest of the carnivorous bivalves and kin-run like a deer. The weasel kept just ahead of Abe and on the fourth lap Abe let fire with the shotgun, but the weasel was just around the curvature of the silo. Abe killed three chickens and a calf the first shot and then suddenly found out that he couldn't shoot around a corner with a straight barreled gun. So while he was runnin' he banged the gun barrel agin a tree and bent the barrel so it would shoot in a curve around the silo. He let are just as he seen the weasel's tail disappearin' around the silo and said:

"There take that, you ornery chicken thiefin' cuss," but he didn't hit the weasel. The shot flew around the silo and soon ketches Abe in the back, for the shot was goin' consid'ble faster than Abe was runnin'. Abe is just able to be around; but while he was in bed the weasel came back and got the rest of the chickens.

The economy is absolutely positive.

A housekeeper said: "Of course I know Price's Baking Powder makes better food, and I always use it for fine cakes and Sunday food, but for ordinary baking I use another powder because it is lower priced."

The following statement is easily verified: In making a dozen tea biscuits the difference in cost between the use of Price's Baking Powder, a pure, healthful, cream of tartar powder, and the low priced or alum powder is one fifth of a cent.

Charlie Brown is one of the men who cannot do two things at once. He went out on the lawn to sprinkle putting his pipe the while. When he had exhausted the supply of tobacco he carefully knocked the ashes out and then stuck the nozzle of the hose in his pocket instead of the pipe. It was but a second later that he discovered his error, but it was too late. Naturally, the story leaked out as did the water, and Charlie may some day find his picture on the funny pages of the Sunday supplements.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; none cures out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular.

JANESVILLE TO PAY LESS THAN BELOIT

BOWER CITY'S SHARE OF STATE AND COUNTY TAXES $3,910 LESS THAN RIVAL'S.

FIRST TIME ON RECORD

Never Before in History Has Beloit Exceeded Janesville in Amount Paid into Public Till.

For the first time in history the city of Beloit will pay a larger amount of the state and county taxes than Janesville. According to the tax levy as prepared at the county clerk's office the line city will raise $51,599 this year against $47,689 for Janesville, or a difference of $3,910. In 1911 Janesville paid $1,773 more than Beloit, and on every year preceding Janesville has been the heaviest contributor.

The reason for the change this year is due to the increase in the assessed valuation of Beloit property which for the first time is higher than that of Janesville property. Then the true valuation of Beloit property was boosted a larger proportion than was the case in this city by the county board of equalization for the purposes of equalizing the state and county taxes. This was done on the recommendation of Supervisor of Assessments F. A. Taylor, and although Beloit supervisors and business men protested to the county board the reduction made by that body was not enough to turn the weight of taxation to the Janesville side.

Until about the year 1900 Janesville invariably paid twice as much state and county taxes as her neighbor at the state line. In some years it was more than twice as much. Some of the figures will be of interest as taken from the county clerk's books: In 1895 Janesville paid $16,789 more than Beloit; in 1900 $11,166; in 1905, $5,631; and in 1910, $2,683 more than Beloit.

The total amount of money to be raised in Rock county for state and county purposes this year is $250,786.87. This includes the state tax, special charges to Rock county from state institutions, district school loans, county tax for general purposes, county school tax, county superintendent's tax and superintendent's expenses, soldiers' mill tax, and the county bridge and highway tax.

The apportionment as made by the county clerk on the basis of the equalization committee's report to the various towns, cities and villages is given below. Returns have been made to the different clerks who will hurry the work of preparing the tax statements.

STARTLING EVIDENCE OF AN ARSON TRUST
IS FOUND IN STATE

Fire Marshal Purtell and Assistants
Place Gang Under Arrest Charging Them With Wholesale Destruction.

Startling evidence of an arson trust operating in Wisconsin has been uncovered by State Fire Marshal T. M. Purtell and his corps of assistants. An organization of experts who, it is alleged, have been profiting by burning buildings throughout the country since the time of the world's fair in Chicago, have been hunted down and were placed under arrest yesterday afternoon, charged with the burning of the Spring City hotel at Waukesha, Wis., January 24, 1911.

Marshal Purtell and the department attorney, J. F. Baker, secured warrants at Waukesha yesterday for the arrest of the leaders of the gang. Requisitions will be necessary, as some of the parties for whom warrants have been issued live in other states. The state fire marshal's department has been at the head of the organization since the fire nearly two years ago, and has been perfecting the chain of evidence ever since.

Whole-sale Destruction.
"It is the most perfectly organized trust for the destruction of property by fire, for profit, that has ever been uncovered in this country," said Marshal Purtell today. "As far as the investigation has gone into the operations of the gang in this and other states, we are led to believe that this one organization has destroyed over a half million dollars' worth of property in the last decade."

The Spring City hotel, a large frame structure, was insured for $10,000 and was put in condition for the fire and burned on Jan. 24, 1911, at about 11:30 p. m., according to the department. Mr. Purtell stated that the department knew after the investigation at the time of the fire that it was of incendiary origin and that certain local parties had guilty knowledge, but the department did not know they were experts, carefully organized and operating in many states. It is stated that the department is now in possession of evidence showing that fires have been planned and buildings burned by the same gang in other states—in some cases the owners paying a large sum for the burning. In other cases, the evidence shows it was done on a percentage basis. The evidence shows this has been carried on for years.

How Work Was Done.
The investigation in the Waukesha case discloses the fact that the work was done by men of experience each of whom was an expert in his particular branch of criminal work. One was expert in approaching insurance companies before the fire in attempt to persuade the company to pay over money for information which would enable them to cancel off policies on bad risks where fires were being planned. Persons skilled in the preparation of buildings prior to the fire in order to reduce the loss to the owner also were involved. The adept in the act of setting the fire and getting away before it broke out was also present and performed his part well. Expert loss appraisers who were on the scene immediately and who had duty it was to see that the actual loss was equal to the maximum of insurance carried on the property were prompt in the performance of their parts.

The loss adjusters, who were Chicago parties connected with the gang, it is declared succeeded in getting the contractor to adjust the loss by being promptly on the ground after the fire and notifying the companies involved that they were there adjusting other losses.

Warrants For Seven.
J. F. Baker, attorney for the state fire marshal department, who prepared the complaints against the alleged offenders, stated that two members of the gang would be informed against jointly as principals under section 4405 of the statutes for burning property to injure an insurer. The penalty for the offense ranges from three to ten years imprisonment in the state prison. Others will be charged under section 4409 for burning the property of another in the night-time. Some will be charged with being accessories after the fact to arson.

Warrants have been issued at Waukesha for six or seven of the principal alleged offenders, one of them, Fred W. Cowie, being immediately placed under arrest Monday afternoon. Cowie is a son-in-law of the late Dr. Rice of that city, concerning whose estate there has recently been much sensational litigation.

"THE THIEF."
With a remarkable cast, headed by Miss Marion Sherwood, Henri Benoit's "The Thief" will be seen at the Myers Theatre, Saturday, Dec. 7, matinee and evening. It can safely be said that "The Thief" will go down in annals as one of the most popular strong dramatic plays that have ever visited Jansville.

A consuming ambition to appear attractive and well dressed, in the eyes of her husband, coupled with the forgivable feminine predisposition to a harmless flirtation forms the simple thread of the story that winds itself into an amazing tangle of domestic infelicity. The story is said to be one of intense dramatic situations. It is drama too, of the highest order, powerful, gripping with a convincing sense that just such circumstances and conditions as are so subtly connected in "The Thief" are not impossible with normal characters, placed under some what abnormal life relations.

In a criticism of the play, The Arkansas Democrat of Little Rock, Ark., has this to say:

Scene from "Third Degree," at Myers Theatre, Saturday, December 14, Matinee and Evening.

"In the presentation of 'The Thief' at the Kemper Theatre last night the players were admirably cast. As Marie Louise Voysin, the erring wife, Miss Marion Sherwood, gave a most acceptable accounting of herself. She classes high with an emotional actress. Her work here has not been surpassed on a local stage this season, except possibly by Mrs. Leslie Carter. In the second act which is tense from beginning to end she was seen in a thorough test and her work brought repeated and merited encores. In the third act where she makes her final appeal to her husband, she gave a powerful touch of realism to her part.

To add a sense of the completely artistic, the stage setting throughout was well adapted and elaborate making the play as a whole one of the notable theatrical offerings of the year."

"THE THIRD DEGREE."
It is said that Charles Klein contemplates writing ten plays on subjects of public interest. "The Lion and the Mouse" dealt with these high in politics and the millionaire class. "The Third Degree" strikes telling blows at police methods in getting confessions by the "sweating" process and deals with those high in social circles. So effective have been the results of these two dramas that all are waiting his third expose of some abused privilege. "The Third Degree" will be presented at Myers Theatre Saturday, Dec. 14, matinee and evening.

PALMETTO CONCERT
ESPECIALLY GOOD

Dan's Soloist Who Appeared Before Apollo Club Last Evening Has

Exceptionally Fine Voice.
It was a gala night at the Apollo club last evening for the simple expedient of closing the eyes, one could easily imagine himself attending grand opera. The big arias from Pagliacci, Rigoletto, Martha and Il Trovatore together with a bewildering array of selections in German, French, Danish, Italian and English were given with splendid effect by Enrico Palmetto. One almost wished that Mr. Palmetto had followed Madame Malha's plan of acting some of the scenes in costume for he was plainly hampered by the restrictions of the concert room, but as to his voice and art there is no question. It is truly a wonderful voice under absolute control, naturally, at times too large for library all, but there was no lack of refinement in it, although Mr. Palmetto sings with all the fervor and dramatic intensity of the Italians, but he is said to be a Dane with Latin blood in his veins.

Perhaps he was greatest in Camo's aria from Pagliacci, delivered with marvelous effect, brilliant and sweeping. A decided contrast to this was the lullaby by Hartman with the lovely pianissimo, but Mr. Palmetto's voice is fully equal to the demands he makes upon it and the listener feels that he is at all times master of his wonderful resources. Mr. Martin Bruch supplied adequate accompaniments and added to the gaiety of the evening by playing two solos of the modern school—Polchenele by Rachmaninoff and a concert study by Primis. The audience demanded an encore and also showed its appreciation of Mr. Palmetto's work throughout the evening by vociferous applause.

SIX DEBATERS ARE CHOSEN LAST NIGHT

Judd, Kuhlow, Mohr, Dearborn, Noyes and Smiley Will Represent Local High School.

The debate tryout speeches were successfully given last night at the high school and it was extremely difficult to pick the teams, to represent the school in debate this year. There were only seven contestants, and the extreme difficulty was that of choosing the place for the speakers on the teams. There were six of the seven who took the affirmative side of the question, while Allen Dearborn held up the negative. The speeches as a whole were interesting to the audience, which numbered about fifty.

Stanley Judd was chosen as best speaker by all three judges, and his ability was exposed in its full power. The teams as they were chosen were as follows: affirmative, Stanley Judd, leader, Benj. Kuhlow, and Harold Mohr; negative, Allen Dearborn, leader, Chas. Noyes and Russell Smiley. They will start to work at once in an effort to capture the state high school title as the football team has done.

It is generally thought that the sides of the question are practically even, and they will argue on the question, "Resolved, that in the interests of world peace, the United States begin to diminish its proportional naval expenditures."

The judges were: Miss Helen Vlymen, Prof. John Arbuthnot and E. L. Roethe, members of the faculty.

GOVERNORS GATHER FOR ANNUAL CONFAB

Heart to Heart
Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THERE IS NO WASTE.

Nothing is ever lost.
When you burn a piece of coal in your stove you merely change the shape of it. You do not destroy it—not a particle of it.

The coal is changed into flame and smoke, into gases and ashes, but nothing that was in the coal is lost by the process of combustion. It all exists in one form or another. Nothing is lost. It must be so, else by our activities and enterprises we would soon burn up the world on which we live.

In so far as science can determine all matter is immortal. Nothing new is created, and nothing is destroyed. Man has the power to change and use matter, but he can neither create nor demolish, not even so much as a grain of dust.

You can boil water and change it into steam or you may condense steam and change it into water, but you cannot annihilate either water or steam.

Nothing in the physical world is ever lost, and nothing in the spiritual world is ever lost.

A deed of kindness cannot be destroyed. It persists. A work of love once begun never dies. An act of sacrifice cannot be annihilated. Devotion is indestructible.

But you say, "The child I loved and lost—that is lost, and only loss."

No.
The beauty and the power of that child's life are not lost. It lives in you and in others. And the love you had for the child persists in another form—in sympathy and kindness and devotion to other children.

Things spiritual cannot be killed. Like matter, spirit is indestructible. It continues. Its form may be changed, but it is immortal.

Kindness, devotion to family, to children, to friends; justice to all, charity toward all, generosity, helpfulness—these will last forever.

Goodness, beauty, truth, heroism, sacrifice—how can they be lost?

In the spiritual as in the physical realm there is no waste. All is utilized. You never had a good thought nor did a good thing that was useless. Somewhere, somehow, it is of use.

And so what matters it if the world does not know; and never praises; What matters it if you have wrought and suffered in silence.

Nothing of yours is lost.

You are a contributor to the forces that live forever, the sum total of which is the universe of God.

The Cold Sponge.

While the cold plunge should only be indulged in by those who are physically very robust, the cold sponge bath can be indulged in by all. It is especially refreshing after getting home from work, and if accompanied by a change of clothing and a short rest on the back will make you over new for the evening.

A HAPPY, LAUGHING
CHILD IN FEW HOURS

If Cross, Irritable, Feverish, Tongue Coated and Sick, Give Delicious "Syrup of Figs."

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish, Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little ones' stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste.

Every mother realizes after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectually, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour, bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without griping or nausea, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

Stop That Cough In A Minute

Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most patent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balsam does not contain morphine or chloroform. It is made by perspiration from bloodroot, lobelia, pine bark, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The irritation is relieved, the lungs healed without danger of pneumonia. It's safe for children or old people. Get a bottle today for 25 cents. Badger Cough Balsam is made by Mr. Fennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts.

DINNER STORIES

Murphy was a new cavalry recruit and was given one of the worst horses in the troop.
"Remember," said the sergeant "no one is allowed to dismount without orders."

Murphy was no sooner in the saddle than the horse kicked and Murphy went over his head.
"Murphy!" yelled the sergeant when he discovered him lying breathless on the ground, "you dismounted!"

"I did."
"Did you have orders?"
"I did."
"From headquarters?"
"No, sir; from headquarters."

In London the saloons are open on Sundays between the hours of three and five in the afternoon. A couple of roughs were standing in front of one of these accommodations waiting for it to open when a Salvation Army captain who was passing said, "Men, don't you know that when you enter a saloon you enter hell?" "That's all right," said the roughs.

Dr. Wm. Sadler, author of "The Cause and Cure of Colds," says that common colds should be taken seriously, especially when they "hang on." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable household medicine for coughs and colds, equally effective for children and for grown persons. Take it when you feel a cold coming on. It will avert danger of serious results and cure quickly. Mrs. N. C. Young, Pesgab, Ga., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cleared my throat and cured my cold." Badger Drug Co.

Fred Kelley began his busy life selling papers in an Ohio city. He had thirty-eight subscribers, but one day one of them, a negro, stopped his paper.

Kelley went around to see what was the trouble.
"What's the matter with the paper?" he asked.
"Oh," replied the former patron, "there's too many advertisements. I don't mind a few, but when I pick up a paper I want at least half of it filled with ads."

Defect of Human Nature.
It is human nature to want to profit by the mistakes of others rather than by our own.

MOST SICKNESS COMES FROM WEAK, INACTIVE KIDNEYS

Recent Reports Show Hundreds Suffer With Kidney Troubles and Don't Know It.

There are scores of nervous, tired, run-down people throughout the city suffering with pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, weaknesses of the bladder, (frequently causing annoyance at night) who fail to realize the seriousness of their trouble until such conditions as chronic rheumatism, bladder troubles, dropsy, diabetes or even Bright's Disease result.

All this is due to weak, inactive kidneys. The kidneys are the filters of the blood, and no one can be well and healthy unless the kidneys work properly. It is even more important than that the bowels move regularly.

If you suffer with such symptoms don't neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure an original package of the new discovery, Croxone, which costs but a trifle, and commence its use at once. When you have taken a few doses, you will be surprised how differently you will feel.

Croxone cures the worst cases of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism, because it removes the cause. Pills, tablets and other remedies, merely give temporary relief out all the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism, soothes and heals the bladder, and quickly effects a permanent, positive, lasting cure.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, it is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it. Adv.

This Will Stop Your
Cough in a Hurry

Save $2 by Making This Cough

Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes a pint of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 2 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect; braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

The effect of Pinex on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in quinine and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has often been imitated, though never successfully. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Let Us Do Our Duty.
Let us do our duty in our shop or our kitchen; in the market, the street, the office, the school, the home, just as faithfully as if we stood in the front rank of some great battle, and knew that victory for mankind depended on our bravery, strength and skill. When we do that, the humblest of us will be serving in that great army which achieves the welfare of the world.—Theodore Parker.

"Apple-Pie Order."
Every Saturday a Puritan dame, Hepzibah Merton, baked two dozen or more apple pies, which were to last her family during the week. Placing them on her shelves in the pantry, labeling each according to the day of the week on which it was to be used, and the pantry thus arranged, was said to be in apple-pie order.

GIVES WARNING NOTE TO EUROPEAN POWERS

President refers with expressions of pride to China, where "the policy of encouraging financial investment to enable that country to help itself has had the result of giving new life and practical application to the open-door policy." The consistent purpose has been to encourage the use of American capital in China, says the president, to promote the reforms to which that country is pledged by treaty with the United States and other powers. There has been a vigorous assertion, also, he says, of the equal right of the United States to a voice in all questions pertaining to Chinese loans and developments.

President Taft makes the direct charge that the terrible events recorded in Nicaragua recently, the useless loss of life, the devastation of property, the bombardment of the principal cities, the killing, the torturing and suffering, might have been averted had the department of state, through approval of the loan convention by the senate, been permitted to carry out its new well-developed policy.

"In Central America the aim has been to help such countries as Nicaragua and Honduras to help themselves," says President Taft. While they are the immediate beneficiaries, the profit to the United States is two-fold, he adds. The Monroe Doctrine is more vital in the neighborhood of the Panama Canal, and such countries should be helped of the jeopardy of heavy foreign debts likely to provoke international complications.

The financial rehabilitation of these countries by American bankers and the protection of their customs houses from being the prey of would-be dictators, says the president, would remove the menace of foreign creditors and revolutionary disorders. Furthermore, the United States would profit largely in a business way through the development of the great natural resources of Central America.

Commending the successful results of the application of the new neutrality laws to Mexico and other troubled countries, the president suggests that means be found in addition to prevent the professional revolutionists from making American "pays" for revolutionary intrigues. He reiterates his determination to adhere in the case of Mexico to the "patient policy of non-interference, steadfast recognition of constituted authority, and the exertion of every effort to protect American interests."

Other paragraphs of the message point to the increase of American domestic exports by $200,000,000 during the past year, making the greatest total ever known, $2,200,000,000; to the agricultural credit system which he thoroughly endorsed, to the probable necessity of an amendment of the fur seal act to permit limiting killing of seals; to a meeting of the arbitrators in Washington next year to adjust the pecuniary claims between Great Britain and America; to negotiations with Mexico for the distribution of the waters of the Colorado river in the Imperial Valley section; and to the financial rehabilitation of Liberia.

There is merely historical reference to the Chinese revolution; to the San Domingan troubles, the rebellion in Cuba and the Balkan war developments, in which it is said the United States is not involved. The message concludes with an earnest appeal to congress to co-operate with the executive in its efforts to apply the old principles of diplomacy which have governed the country to the present, new situation of today, when America finds itself at the threshold of her middle age as a nation; "too mature to continue in its foreign relations those temporary expedients natural to a people to whom domestic affairs are the sole concern."

OUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY

Following the example of the younger set shopping parties are quite the proper thing these days. Favors for everybody and a special prize for the one who has accomplished the most.

Mean Man.

An Osborne man once let his wife go visiting her folks. The first week she was there he took the home paper and cut out a piece and sent the paper to her. She wondered and wondered and wondered. The next week he did the same thing. She at once packed her telescope and hurried home. He told her it was only a joke and she smiled behind her back for a week.—Kansas City Journal.

Restoring Value to Rubber.

People using articles made of rubber that frequently lose their elasticity through oxidation may restore the material to its original condition by a simple process. Soak the part in a mixture of one part of ammonia to two parts water. This is particularly well adapted to the restoring of rubber bands, rings and small tubing which are ready to become dry and brittle.

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS.

The millions of Cascaret users never have Headache, Constipation, Biliousness or Sick Stomach.

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head, clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

ARCHBOLD TRIAL IS STARTED BY SENATE

an attorney of Scranton, Pa., to settle a reparation suit brought by the Marion Coal Company against the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad company, and to sell for C. G. Boland and W. P. Boland, a large portion of the stock of the Marion Coal Company to the railroad. In his answer Judge Archbold declared he acted in this matter merely as a friend of Watson and C. G. Boland, without ever having received a suggestion of compensation.

In response to every charge attorneys for Judge Archbold replied that the acts charged did not constitute an impeachable offense, or a high crime or misdemeanor, as defined in the constitution.

Croupy Coughs and Wheezy Colds.

The quickest simplest way to rid the children of dangerous croupy coughs and wheezy stuffy colds is to give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It gives almost instant relief and stops a cough promptly. It soothes and heals. Contains no opiates. H. L. Blomquist, Esdalle, Wis., says: "My wife considers Foley's Honey and Tar Compound the best cough cure and it gives the best results." Badger Drug Co.

CERTIFIES TO CITY SHARE OF TAX LEVY

County Clerk Lee Notifies City

State and County Purposes. The sum of $47,689.43 will be raised by taxation in Janesville for state and county purposes on the assessment for 1912 according to County Clerk Howard Lee, who has just certified to City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund the various sums. This is approximately four thousand dollars less than the levy for the same purposes last year, which was $51,773. State taxes to be raised for state purposes total $14,889.38; county taxes for county purposes $16,969.35; personal property and illegal taxes charged back $18,633; soldiers' mill tax $1,658.67; county highway tax $2,832.24. The tax lists must be in the hands of the city treasurer by December 16, not quite two weeks hence, and the city clerk and his assistants will be kept busy in the intervening time making the necessary computations.

Keystone to Success.

"The only helps toward success that I have ever found worth while are, first, to have a purpose and then a willingness to work for it. That is the main thing. Coincident must be a realization of the absolute necessity of good health and an absorbing interest or hobby entirely different from one's pursuits."—Edward Cox, in the Strand.

WOMEN TERRORIZE
UNTIDY TRADESMEN

Mrs. William G. Brown.

A brave band of millionaires' wives in New York have started out to make food cheaper and cleaner. They belong to the Progressive Economic club, and prove their sincerity in the cause by getting out of bed at 4 or 5 in the morning, bundling into automobiles and touring the big markets, where they are becoming a terror to unscrupulous and untidy tradesmen.

Among the Progressive Economic enthusiasts are Mrs. William Grant Brown; Mrs. Lewis Nixon, whom her friends characterize as a "suffragist of the persuasive sort"; Mrs. George Baskowitz, who with Dr. Baskowitz founded and supported for several years the Manhattan Visiting Nurses' Association; and Mrs. George Kerr, one of the founders of the club.

Divided Old Island. Windmill island occupied a position in the Delaware river between Philadelphia and Camden. A channel that was cut through the island for the passage of ferryboats divided it. One half was afterward known as Smith's island, the property having been acquired by a family of that name. It was on Smith's island that the resort known as Ridgway Park was located. Both islands were removed by the government for the purpose of deepening the channel in 1894.

Divided Old Island. Windmill island occupied a position in the Delaware river between Philadelphia and Camden. A channel that was cut through the island for the passage of ferryboats divided it. One half was afterward known as Smith's island, the property having been acquired by a family of that name. It was on Smith's island that the resort known as Ridgway Park was located. Both islands were removed by the government for the purpose of deepening the channel in 1894.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

WHEN LOVE IS BLIND.

LOVE is a queer thing. And "love is blind" in more ways than the lover's inability to see the petty follies they themselves commit. Love is also blind in the strange ways in which it gropes and grasps after what it wants in exactly the wrong direction.

A young woman who has been married a little over a year was telling me of a recent storm which had ruffled her matrimonial seas. It seems that "himself"—we'll call him John because that was not his name—had planned to go off for the week end on a hunting trip with two of his bachelor friends.

His wife was horrified. "Just think of that," said she, "he was going to leave me for two whole days. You can imagine how heartbroken I felt."

"He didn't go then?" I asked. "I should say not," said the lady. "I told him it showed he didn't love me any more, and finally I broke down and just cried and he was frantic. He said, of course, he wouldn't go, that he'd stay at home and do anything I wanted. And so we are going to the theatre and have a little dinner afterwards—his hunting trip would have cost every bit as much. Isn't that lovely?"

"And you are perfectly satisfied?" "Of course," she said, round eyed. "Why shouldn't I be?"

"Why didn't you want John to go?" I probed a bit further. Wasn't there anything you would have liked to do? Why didn't you pay us that visit you've promised so long?"

"Oh, it wasn't that, I could have found plenty to do. It just didn't seem to me that John loved me the way he used to if he wanted to go way off like that on his day off."

I didn't probe any further. Poor, foolish little woman. She was satisfied and yet she hadn't in the least altered the main fact, which was, of course, that her husband WANTED to go.

With the eternally feminine weapon she had forced him to give up the trip, but he probably WANTED it just as much as ever—if not more. And yet it was whether he WANTED to leave her, not whether he DID, that was the real criterion of his desire for her society.

I think women often make the great mistake of missing this distinction. When a jealous woman by tears or threats makes her husband promise to give up some other woman's society, she feels she has accomplished something. In reality she has accomplished nothing—or less. For she hasn't made him cease wanting the other woman's presence, which was, of course, the real issue. The way to make a man prefer one's society to that of other women most emphatically is not to force it on him by tears and scenes.

The lady of the hunting trip would have laid a far better foundation for future comradeship if she had let her man go and find out how glad he was to get back to her. The jealous woman can do nothing by force and exactions. It must all be done by tact and by using every charm she has to the utmost.

And love is blinder than the proverbial bat when it fails to recognize these things.

Ever since the world began, Sunday has been set apart as a day of rest. This rest is taken in different ways by different people; all depending upon the individual's view-point of what "Rest" means to them.

Of one thing we are certain, that Sunday as a day of rest has not been for the housekeeper. No matter how hard she worked during the week, nor how well her work and meals were planned, that Sunday dinner in the middle of the day or early or late afternoon, has been hers to get. If she did go to church, it was up early, having the breakfast and at least get most of the dinner ready, besides dressing herself and sometimes one or two children before she could attend service. Then hurry home and while others were reading or out of doors on the porch visiting with the neighbors, the housekeeper was getting the dinner and by the time it was over and the dishes done, the best part of the day was spent and she was too tired to enjoy a walk or any outside pleasures with the family and particularly is this true in a big city.

The idea of a big Sunday dinner is a thing of the past. Most people have eaten too much on that day and headaches and "Blue Monday" come from the old fashioned idea of feasting on Sunday, instead of resting, for which the day was originally intended.

Sunday night suppers instead of Sunday dinners is not a new idea, as hundreds of housekeepers will testify.

Chicken de Casserole: Materials—Chicken 4 lbs., onion 1, ham chopped 2 tablespoons, butter or fat 1-2 cup, stewed tomatoes 1 pint, boiled rice 1 cup, salt 1 teaspoon, green sweet pepper 1, stock or water 1 pint. Directions—Clean and separate a fowl at the joints. Chop fine an onion and about an ounce of ham. Melt 1-4 cup of butter in a spider. Into this brown the pieces of fowl, removing them as cooked to the casserole. Then brown the onion and ham in the pan and add these to the casserole with one quart of hot broth or boiling water, one pint of hot stewed to-

"How do you make such delicious muffins? Mine are always so dry. And if I make the batter thin they fall. How do you do it?"

"I make them about as you do, only I use KC Baking Powder. Mine always turn out well, so it must be the baking powder."

It is the baking powder. To make muffins, cakes and pastry rich and moist, yet light and feathery, a modern double acting baking powder must be used—one that will give off leavening gas in the oven as well as in the mixing bowl.

KC Baking Powder is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which starts to raise as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. This sustains the raise until your muffins, biscuits or cake is done.

KC Baking Powder costs less than the old fashioned quick acting kinds, yet you need use no more and it is superior to them in every way.

loos, one cup of boiled rice, a teaspoonful of salt, and one sweet green pepper pod, freed from seeds and sliced fine. Cover the dish closely, and let simmer in the oven an hour and a half or longer, according to the age of chicken. Add more salt before serving if needed. Chicken prepared as above and given one half hour on the stove may then be removed to the fireless cooker, to remain several hours or until ready to serve. Chicken or any foods which require slow cooking are delicious cooked in this manner. The tomatoes of rice may be omitted, or peas may be added instead, about ten minutes before serving.

Other suggestive Sunday night supper dishes are any escalloped dishes, such as potatoes, macaroni, spaghetti, oysters and any casserole meat and vegetable dishes. The less expensive cuts of beef and veal are especially fine for this.

Salads of all kinds, with mayonnaise dressing and all ready, but just putting together, is done on Saturday.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR THE HOUSE-WIFE.

Common wooden clothespins, with the name printed on them in ink, make fine napkin holders for a few days' outing.

Use heavy manilla wrapping paper to roll out biscuits or pie crust on.

A bottle filled with ice water makes a good rolling pin.

When one has many pieces of cutlery to wash, put them in a deep pail or bowl with a colander underneath. Pour hot water over them until clean, then they will dry very easily.

When drawing threads in table linen, wet the strip to be drawn with water, and keep it wet while pulling the threads, and they will draw out much easier.

Use a crochet hook to knit the thread dropped in a drop stitch stocking, then when fastened there is no ugly strain.

A most beautiful as well as a useful tray may be made by framing any rare lace or choice embroidery in a wooden frame, cover the back with felt to keep it from scratching the table, put handles on the ends and your tray is ready.

When choice toilet soap wears down to a thin piece, place it while wet on a new cake, and when dry it will be a part of it.

Oil children's shoes with vaseline and they will wear better and be waterproof.

Use a grater to remove a slight scorch from bread or cake.

When cooling pies, place them on a raised surface so that the air may circulate under them. It will save the crusts from being soggy many times.

Mend veils with hair and the rent will not be noticed.

When leaving tubs for some time, put into the bottom and well up on the sides several thicknesses of paper, then pour in several gallons of water. The paper will hold the moisture long after the water has evaporated from the tub.

Darn table linen on the machine. Remove the foot, place the linen in embroidery loops and darn back and forth with stitching.

Mistress Pepys' Diary

8TH.—Up betimes and to market—which gives me always much delight, so plentiful is the bounty of nature in this country. Greatly perplexed was I whether to take home for my husband's refreshment strawberries, which did tempt me hugely with their red lusciousness, or wondrous purple grapes which are almost of the size of plums and have the meaty substance of a cherry, when my eye was caught by some strange looking objects that did seem as if they might be of the pumpkin family, and yet were of such tender yellowness in color that they seemed not to be of kinship with the pumpkin.

"And what may they be?" I asked of the attentive shopman. "They are casaba melons," was his reply.

"Casaba!" quoth I, rolling this new and strange word on my tongue. "And are they for eating?"

At that his eyes did twinkle, and a merry smile spread upon his face. "We think so," quoth he. "And few things for eating are of more pleasant savour," wherewith I straightway ordered one to my basket, and thence I home to test the good man's words. And I found he had not spoken with exaggeration.

For no sooner had I placed a piece upon my tongue than never, thought I, had I tasted such juicy deliciousness. At first, seemed it like old-fashioned muskmelon, the like of which we do not often find these times. But whilst I rejoiced in this taste, it passed, as a wisp of cloud melts away at noon tide, and in its place came the delicate, indefinite savour of watermelon. And at this was I a bit disappointed, for methinks if I want watermelon, I will buy watermelon. But as if to heal my disappointment, came quickly the pungent spiciness of nutmeg; yet almost as I realized it, I found myself questioning, "Is it peach, or plum or grape?" And then I leaned back with great satisfaction in my chair and said to myself, "It has the fine secret essence of all of these, and yet it is none of them. It is casaba! And I wondered not that the shopman spoke so highly of it. And methinks could I not get a casaba otherwise than by journeying to California for it, gladly would I take the journey to secure one."

And considering nature's bounty of fruit and flower, it is small wonder that all in this state do seem so happy. The men do whistle and sing as they go about their tasks. The milk peddler this morning was singing heartily. The fish vender whistled merrily as he made his way down the street.

The women, too, are always of a bright and smiling countenance, for truly it is but light work to keep the house in order here. My neighbor said daily this morning as she hastened past me, "I'm away for the day. Housekeeping is easy in California." And methinks she spoke the truth.

The women are all most pleasing in their dress, and this effect they seem to achieve quite easily, and to make no such effort to dress well as I have noticed elsewhere. Perhaps this is because the master of the house is always of such good humor, by reason of the goodly things placed before him at table, that he does not need to be placated by fine apparel. For God knows it is a woman's chief desire to keep her husband in good temper, and she will to her task, even at much discomfort to herself. But it doth add satisfaction to life to be released of much vexation in this matter of dress, and I hope my husband will to this way of thinking.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) I am a girl of 19 and have lately become acquainted with a man five years my senior. We are of different nationalities and religion. Should this make any difference to a happy marriage? (2) He has taken me to several places of amusement, driving, dancing, etc., on week days and seems to be honorable in his attentions to me at all times. Is he in love with me?

(3) He has asked me several times on Sundays to go driving or walking with him, but I have refused. Ought I to go when he asks me? (4) Recently he asked what my feelings were toward him. I told him I thought they were in favor of him. Was I foolish to say this? As I told him this, would it be wrong for me to turn him down now? Or refuse to go out with him next time he calls me up?

(5) He often remarks that I act as though I don't care for his company, though I always make believe I do. Do I know my own mind? (6) Please give me a remedy for shiny skin.

ENGLISH.

(1) Such a marriage is seldom happy. (2) He must like you pretty well or he would not care so much of your company. (3) Not unless you wish to go. (4) You have the privilege of changing your mind and you are not engaged to him. (5) I really don't think you love him, my dear girl, or you would be more certain of your own feelings. (6) Put it with a little pure alcohol two or three times a day.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) I am 5 ft. 9 in. tall and weigh 140 pounds. Am I well proportioned or am I too tall? (2) How can one recall wedding invitations? (3) In a strange community, is it proper for the teacher to call first on the parents? (4) Are willow plumes in style this winter?

PERPLEXED.

(1) You are a bit slender for your height. Tall women are fashionable now. (2) Send notes to the effect that the wedding ceremony has been indefinitely postponed. (3) The teacher, something like the minister, does most of the calling. (4) Yes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) I am a girl of 18 and have been keeping company with a gentleman of 21. A few weeks ago he met my cousin. He was supposed to have accompanied me to a theatre one Tuesday evening, but, having made a date with her, he did not show up. He promised me faithfully on Tuesday afternoon he would be there and I was very disappointed when he did not come for me. What do you think of him? On this account I dropped him. Did I do right?

(2) Is it proper to exchange rings before your engagement and if not why not? (3) How late should a girl stay out with a gentleman? (4) Should she let him kiss her goodnight? (5) Is it a good plan for a fellow to let a girl have her own way to much?

HARRIETTE.

(1) He was very inconsiderate. You did quite right to drop him after that. (2) No, it gives people a false impression. (3) Unless they are at an entertainment or theatre which keeps them until 10 or 11 p. m., she should be home before 10. (4) Not unless she is engaged to marry him. (5) Not if she is always unreasonable. It is only courteous for a girl to comply with a man's wishes once in a while, if they do not conflict with what she knows is right.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Sweet-Potato Croquettes—Wash and pare sweet-potatoes. Cook in boiling salted water until soft, drain and mash. To two cups of mashed potato add three teaspoonfuls of butter, three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of pepper and one beaten egg. Shape, dip in crumbs, egg and crumbs again, fry and drain.

Jelly Toast—Cut bread in one-third inch slices, remove crusts, cut in halves or diagonals toast and spread with butter. Spread one-half the pieces with grape jelly or marmalade, sprinkle with chopped walnut meats, and cover with remaining pieces. Serve very hot on warm plates. Currant jelly may be used in place of the grape, and chopped pecan-nut meats instead of the walnuts.

Bouillon Parassienne—Three cups of boiling water, two cups of uncooked rice, one tablespoonful of onion minced fine, one tablespoonful of minced parsley, one tablespoonful of minced watercress, six peppercorns simmer one hour, strain and add one cupful of hot clam juice, either fresh or bottled, and one teaspoonful of salt. Serve with it toast fingers and crisps.

Jellied Prunes—Pick over, wash and soak one-third of a pound of prunes for several hours in two cups of cold water; then cook for several hours in two cups of cold water; then cook in the same water until soft. Remove prunes, stone and cut in quarters. To prune water add enough boiling water to make two cups. Soak two and one half tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water and dissolve in hot liquid. Add one cupful of sugar and one-fourth of a cupful of lemon-juice and strain. Add prunes, turn into a mold and chill. Serve with sugar and top milk or thin cream.

Date Pie—Cook one-third of a pound of sugar dates with two cups of milk for twenty minutes in the top of a double boiler. Strain and rub through a sieve, then add two eggs and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt and a few shavings of nutmeg. Bake in a quick oven at first to set rim, decrease the heat afterwards, as the egg and milk in combination need to be cooked at a low temperature.

HEAD COVERED WITH WHITE PIMPLES

Went to Ear, Shoulders, and Whole Body. Thick and Sticky on Head. Eruption Covered With Blood. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Ransom, Ill.—"The trouble started on our baby when he was only about two weeks old. Started like little white pimples, looked like an old scab of blood and matter. His whole head was covered for a few months; it went to his ear, shoulders, and his whole body. It seemed to come out thick and sticky on his head, while on the other parts of his body it was more like water coming out of the skin. He would scratch until the eruption would be all covered with blood and gradually spread. The least little stir or rub would cause the sores to bleed, spread and itch. Never had a full night's sleep, restless all night.

The sores were horrid to look at. It lasted until he was about two and a half years old. Then we saw an advertisement in the paper to use Cuticura, but it did not do good. Then we used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. We put the Cuticura Ointment on thick at bed time and put a night hood on so he could not scratch the sores. Then we washed six times a day with Cuticura Soap and warm water twice a day, and he was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. E. F. Sulzberger, Dec. 1, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address: "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

ALBANY YOUNG MAN DIES AFTER A HARD STRUGGLE.

J. D. Ayres Passes Away After Several Operations and Long Treatment at Sanitarium.

[Special to this Gazette.] Albany, Wis., Dec. 3.—The passing of John David Ayres occurred last Tuesday morning, Nov. 26, 1912. The death of this promising young life, while not unexpected brings sadness to many hearts. About a year ago there developed a tumorous growth under his right arm which ultimately caused his death. He submitted to several operations by well known specialists and took treatments for three months in Philadelphia but without avail.

John David Ayres was born on April 5, 1886, in Henry County, Ill., and moved with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ayres, to Edgerton, Wis., in 1903. He came to Albany, Wis., Dec. 5, 1908, and made his home with his uncles, Drs. S. J. and L. M. Morgan, until his marriage to Addie D. Flint, Dec. 22, 1910. He was the third of seven children, all the rest of whom are living. He leaves besides his wife one son, Arnold Maurice Ayres.

He was a member of the firm of Ayres & Whitcomb in the electric light and milling business here and a trusted and skilled employee of the Albany Hardware Specialty Mfg. Co., where he had charge of the manufacture of their special machinery. The funeral services were held at the Methodist church at 10 o'clock Thanksgiving morning conducted by Revs. Jordan and Bridwell. The text "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches and loving favor rather than silver and gold" was very appropriate. The earthly remains were laid to rest in our Albany cemetery by employees of the Latch factory and mill with whom he was closely associated.

The friends from away who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. John Boyer, James Berry, and Miss Belle Barry of Twin Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Volney Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bennett of Monroe; Miss Edna Hemmingsway, Janesville; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Martin of La Salle, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ayres of Gardner, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Flint of Brodhead.

Mrs. John Dooley. The funeral of Mrs. John Dooley was held from the Catholic church Friday morning at ten o'clock and remains were laid to rest in Albany Catholic cemetery. Deceased was about 25 years of age and has been in very poor health about a year. She leaves one sister, one brother, a husband and two small children. The family have the sympathy of the whole community.

Mrs. Dooley, formerly Edna Dodge graduated from the Albany high school and was afterwards an employee of the Vincitor office and every one who knew her, loved her.

Mrs. Mary Anne Webster. The remains of Mrs. Mary Anne Webster were brought here yesterday afternoon for burial. Deceased died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alta Simmons. She was 82 years of age.

BROTHERHOOD HEARS INTERESTING TALK

The Rev. E. Robert Zaring Addressed Brotherhood of Methodist Church Here Last Evening.

The Rev. E. Robert Zaring, editor of the "Northwestern Advocate," the leading Methodist Episcopal paper of the northwest, gave a very interesting address to the Brotherhood of the Carthage Methodist church last night on "The Work of the Minister, as an Evangelist." The Rev. Zaring took as his illustration the career of his father, now eighty-four years old, who has seen fifty-six years of service in the Methodist ministry. He showed that in earlier days the emphasis was placed upon orthodoxy; the Bible was construed literally in all its parts, and the one aim of the pastor was to save souls from perdition. Religion was highly individualistic. In recent years, although the salvation of souls is considered no less important, greater emphasis is placed upon the social duties of the church; its responsibility for the moral life of the community and state, and the amelioration and oppression of unjust relations between one class of society and another. The male quartette of the Methodist church, contributed a number of selections to the program and a dinner was served at 8:15 o'clock.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

BUREAUS.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE bureau is a receptacle in which women hide all of their husbands' clothes which are not worn on the outside. It is so constructed that a man can hunt through it for two hours without locating anything that he can use without having it stretched.

Every bureau is fitted with drawers which can be pulled out at full length and dropped carelessly on the floor. When everything is lost, it can usually be found in the northwest corner of a bureau drawer, carefully hidden away underneath a masculine lingerie which was coined in 1902. There is a nothing that gives a woman so much pleasure as to conceal her husband's full dress tie in a bureau drawer which contains nineteen different styles of night gowns, forty-four pairs of half hose and enough handkerchiefs to stock a bay fever resort.

After a bureau has been in the family for several years, it becomes so densely populated that it can be used with perfect safety by husbands who get their mail at the general delivery. It is usually inhabited by relics of the wedding trousseau and such regalia as the basque skirt, the balloon-sleeved waist, the equating turban, and the wire bustle. After a man has pawed his way through this collection of natural curiosities in search of a shoe-string that he buried there last summer, he will look upon the bonds of wedlock with a new respect.

Bureaus are used to conceal things which are taken off in the spring and put back on in the fall. It explains why so many men are running around clad in summer union suits and a cold in the head. There is absolutely no hope for the husband whose wife sprinkles his fleeced-lined toilet articles with the fragrant moth ball and then forgets whether she buried them under the winter bedding or contributed them to the cause of home missions.

The chiffonier is an exasperating form of bureau which contains everything in the human wardrobe except a buttonhook. A man can hang buttonhooks all over a full-chested chiffonier on Monday morning, and by Tuesday night they will be scattered through his wife's dresser and inextricably intermingled with powder bags, lace inserts and the first trail beginnings of a natural switch. This accounts for the popularity of the lace shoe.

No Longer Cranky About His Meals

Has Perfect Digestion From the Use of a Well-Known Remedy that All Can Obtain.

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table, depend so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experience of some former dyspeptics who overcome their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

In the opinion of such people as Mr. G. M. O'Neal, Hamilton, O., and Mrs. Justine Wolden, 41-55th St., Milwaukee, Wis., it is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how severe, constipation, no matter how chronic, biliousness, headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness, after eating and similar annoyances. You can obtain a bottle at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing medicine or tablets or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it, before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address by postal note to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Effective Home Remedy for Tuberculosis

It is a serious matter when the lungs are affected. A trip away or to a sanatorium is not only expensive, but it involves separation from home and friends. Some are doubtful, but few can safely resist Eekman's Alternative is effective for home treatment. For example: 221 S. Atlantic Ave., Haddonfield, N. J. "Gentlemen: In the fall of 1909 I contracted a very severe cold, which settled on my lungs. At last I began to raise my voice. My physician then told me I must go to California immediately. At this time I was advised to take Eekman's Alternative. I stayed at home and commenced taking it the first week in October. I began to improve, and the first week in January, 1910, I resumed my regular occupation, having gained 25 pounds, fully restored to health. It is now five years since my recovery has been effected, and I cannot praise Eekman's Alternative too highly. I have recommended it with excellent results." (Signed) M. J. TATEM. Eekman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. HIS RISE TO POWER

By HENRY RUSSELL MILLER, Author of "The Man Higher Up"

"We have heard tonight of the past glories of our party, and of glories that are of the nation. I shall not repeat, lest repetition dull their point. I have been asked not to forget the state ticket, in fact, to play it up hard. I need hardly speak for the gentlemen who have so eloquently spoken for themselves. I presume they do not wish to be saddled with responsibility for any of my shortcomings, nor do I wish to be judged by theirs. I am a candidate for office. If you think me the sort of man to administer that office honestly and well, without fear or favor, and as my own man, I shall be happy. If you don't think that, you can't believe that any party's history will make me an honest official. And that's all I can say."

He turned and walked toward the rear of the platform. The silence continued. Slack jaws fell slack. The fringe of farmers stood motionless, bewildered, slow to grasp the significance of the short speech. Through the silence the voice of Jim Sheehan, first to recover presence of mind, carried over the crowd to Main street.

"For God's sake start a tune or something!" This to the band. Some one laughed. The band began to play "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," of all tunes! People began to rise from their seats. It was not necessary for the chairman to announce the end of the meeting. On the stage John faced a wrathful tableau—Parrott, Sherrod and Sheehan. "What the h—!" began Sheehan, but the suave Sherrod, minus his suavity, interrupted. "What do you mean? If you can't support the ticket you had no right to speak at all. You abuse courtesy, young man."

"Not yours, at any rate," John answered, and walked toward the stage. He made his way quickly behind it and out around the crowd. He was dazed at his own act. A heavy sense of treachery was upon him, yet he could not have done otherwise. He had not eyes for the curious glances, many of them more friendly than he could then have believed, cast toward him. Walking swiftly with eyes cast down, he would have passed without noticing the fashionable trap in front of his home had not a voice from it called to him.

"John, John!"

CHAPTER VII. The Wilderness Road.

He stopped and stared at her in astonishment. "Katherine! What are you doing here?" "Listening to the speeches, of course. I wanted dad to come along, but he said no, his interest in politics was practical, not sentimental, and he preferred to take his vaudeville straight. He was in quite a bad humor because I wanted to come. But—I am here."

"I wish you hadn't come," he said, still in a daze. "That's kind, I'm sure." She tossed her head in burlesque hauteur. "Instead, you might offer to drive home with me. Williams can stay here and drive back when you return."

He shook his head. "I'd better not," he muttered. He still wanted to get away by himself to think. "Please!" She leaned forward and urged him softly. "It's our last chance for a good chat. We go away tomorrow morning."

He tried honestly to resist, feeling instinctively she spelled danger and that every hour with her added to the danger. But he made the mistake of looking at her. Always she was revealing some new charm for him and, despite his inner warning, now bred in him a sort of recklessness. He called himself a weakling, a fool that played with fire. And, so, styling himself, he assented. Soon they had left the town behind them and were bowling along the moonlit road.

John, letting the rally and the problem it presented drift into the background, gave himself up to a reckless enjoyment of the moon. The white splendor of the moon, undimmed by smoky torches, the silent majesty of the hills with their shadows and silvery sheen, alone were real. The crowd of faces peering intently at him through the half gloom, the struggle within him as he stood before them, his ironic rejection of the part assigned him, seemed unreal, creatures of a fantastic dream. And the girl beside him, like him smitten into silence, was real, very real.

"It seems," she said, "that I must always take the aggressive. But then you never hunt me out—so what can I do? I suppose most people would call me unwomanly. Do you think me that?"

"I do not," he answered unsteadily. "You can't expect the beneficiary to be critical."

"Do you mean that, I wonder? Or is it only your nice way of letting me down easily? But I am not conferring. I am seeking. A—A friendship—such as ours—means a great deal to me." Her voice dwindled away into silence.

He was hard put to it to keep a tight grip on himself, to fight down the long, surging within him. Instantly he tried to think of her as she was, as unformed woman of essential selfishness, of generous caprices. He had not yet found the solution to the problem presented to him by his campaign, but he felt blindly that it was leading him into paths whether she would not follow, into which he, if he yielded to his longing, would not—could not—go alone. He had sometimes thought he felt in her that which would carry her to great heights; yet he knew she was now of the earth, earthy. She was a creature of luxury. He thought of his last year's income and laughed unpleasantly.

"Don't forget the state ticket. Play it up hard!"

"Why this sudden hilarity?" she demanded. "It's a joke I've just thought of—you wouldn't appreciate it."

"Was it," she pressed him—"was it about your speech tonight?" "Indirectly, I suppose," he replied. "Will you tell me about that? It was the reason—one reason—why I wanted you to come home with me. I'm of two minds about it. Of course, I didn't understand what it was all about, except that you were expected to say far more and something different. Any one could see that the men on the platform were angry. But one had the feeling that somehow you were finding and asserting yourself—doing something rather splendid. I know it made Aunt Roberta begin to snuffle—she said it was a cold in her head. I heard one man near us—a big, hulking farmer—say, 'By Joshua! I always thought there was considerable of a man under that white skin of Johnny Dunmende's.' He didn't mean to be funny, I think. Another, a different sort of man, laughed and said, 'Now that's the cleverest move yet. It's a grandstand play, but it'll make him a big enough to follow it up. It'll get him a following.'"

She looked up at him inquiringly. He saw again the eager interest in her eyes.

"It was neither splendid nor crafty," he said grimly. "I was expected to rant and blather about the virtues of candidates I've no faith in, cover up a lot of things that it seems, can't be answered. I had that speech ready. But when it came to the point I couldn't say it. That's all. Sheehan and the organization will probably knife me under cover and beat me if only as a horrible example to the next young man who happens along with a working conscience."

"Why," she exclaimed incredulously, "that would elect your opponent, wouldn't it? Senator Murchell won't allow it, surely."

"Senator Murchell will be the first to recommend the knife," he laughed shortly. "I begin to suspect that the senator is a false god."

"What have you against the candidates?" "It's rather against the forces behind them. Bad methods and general suspicion, I guess. I probably couldn't make it clear."

"Just that? I do not think," she said slowly, "that I like it, after all. I'm disappointed in—for you."

"Would you have me lie? For that's what it would amount to."

"Oh," she cried, "that's not a fair way to put it. I'm so ambitious for you! That's unwomanly, too, I suppose, but I don't care. I am ambitious for you. And I do so admire the men who get along! And in politics you could go so far. You have Senator Murchell's friendship. You don't know how much he admires you. And you have brains and popularity. Do you know what I would do if I were a man like you? I would go into politics seriously. I would master methods and conditions and adapt them to my purpose. I would keep on until the organization was mine. And then when my power was secure I would remove, little by little, the evils I saw, and when I had finished and measured my compromises against the good I had done I know the balance would be in my favor."

But he merely smiled bitterly. "And I suspect that by the time I'd got the power in the fashion you describe, I'd have become the sort of man that doesn't use his power for good."

"What are you going to do about it?" "About the election?" He shrugged his shoulders in indifference. "Let 'em beat me, I suppose. I haven't thought ahead as far as tomorrow."

"Now that it's all over I can admire your refusing to make that speech. It was splendid in a way. You see, I can appreciate myselfness in the abstract or when it can't be remedied."

"I told you that wasn't myselfness. It was involuntary," he insisted. "But I can add to the evidence—you kindly, even if mistaken, interest in me and my future. And you mustn't sneer at yourself," he added gravely.

She turned to look fairly into his eyes. "Do you still think it necessary to let me down easily?" she asked quietly.

His body became rigid, nails biting into palms in the effort not to take her in his arms. For, without reasoning, he knew that to accept now what she unasked had offered would be to place himself in her power. And that he dared not. For a long moment their eyes clung, then at the same instant they both looked hastily away.

The silent minutes lengthened as the cob drew them slowly up the face of East ridge. Behind them lay the valley, always beautiful, never so wondrous as in the pallor of night; but they looked steadfastly ahead.

To his credit be it written John did not think carpishly of her boldness—let us use the word he used, courage. His longing was not lessened because she had abandoned the woman's weapon of indirection for the man's frankness. Yet his hold on himself did not relax—it became even the more secure. And he wondered at the strength now revealed within him, able to resist the temptation of her. He knew all that she was, and he knew, too, that he desired, would always desire, her above all good things that life holds, yet between them stood an ideal that was still essential to him. And he believed that he had strength to put her—the temptation—away from him.

He put aside his self measuring. From what? What was he to do that made impossible the taking of this girl by his side, his to take?

He had said in answer to her question, "I don't know. Let them beat me, I suppose." He suddenly knew that was not true. He must make his fight. A warm glow enveloped him, his blood quickened. He spoke aloud.

"I will fight them."

She turned to look at him again. "You have thought as far ahead as tomorrow," she said steadily.

"Further than that."

When he had helped her to alight at her home both her hands were in his. He did not release them, nor did she seek to disturb his clasp. She met his gaze unflinchingly.

"Listen," he said gently. "I didn't know that you cared. I, too, care—far more than you will believe."

"I know you care," she answered simply. "And why you won't take me ride," he went on. "That is why I have not seen you since, and a poor man has not the right to do more than ask a woman used to luxury to share his life—he must not try to persuade. And he has not the right to ask any woman, unless she can sympathize with him, help him in his work. If she couldn't it would bring her unhappiness and destroy his work. You—I—we are not in sympathy. And a man's work, his place in life, must come first."

"If I could only be sure of myself," she cried. "You are so many things that I care for and you refuse to take—so many things that I care for."

"The things that you care for can be had only at the expense of the things that are—that I hope are—indispensable to me. I don't mean to be priggish."

"You aren't priggish," she answered quickly. Then she went on: "I wonder, can one make oneself over? I wish now that I could. But then perhaps that is only because it is now. Perhaps tomorrow, when I weigh you against the things I have and want, I shall find you lacking."

He made no reply. He, too, was wondering. Could she make herself over? Could he make her over? He stood awkwardly before her for a moment, then turned as though to leave.

"Are you going to relinquish me wholly?" Her voice was still steady, but in the moonlight her face was very white. "Don't!—this summer—tonight—you have aroused in me longings for something different. Perhaps I may yet become big enough to be happy with what you can give me—with you."

Easily Made Coathangers.

A coathanger may be improvised from a newspaper in the following manner: Fold a newspaper through the center and continue folding or rolling it until it is a compact piece about three inches wide. Bend it downward in the middle and tie with a cord, forming a loop. It will answer the same purpose as a hanger of wood or metal and requires only a few minutes to make.

Toasts Without Wine.

It is quite proper to give toasts at a dinner where no wine is served. As a substitute small glasses of sweet cider may be used, grape juice, fruit punch, which contains no liquor, orangeade or lemonade, or any one or another of the so-called "soft drinks." The drink is served in wine or champagne glasses at the proper time for the drinking of the toasts. Perhaps the nicest thing, in the opinion of many people, is white grape juice. It is very pretty, a pale amber color usually, and is particularly suitable for serving at dinner.

Watch Built in a Pearl.

A tiny watch, which has been made inside a pearl as large as a big pea, has just been constructed by Gallop & Co. of Geneva, fifteen months being spent on the work. The empty pearl weighed forty-five grains and in diameter is less than an inch. This pearl watch can be worn on a ring or as a pendant and cost $6,000.

Those Who Can Least Afford Loss of Time HAVE RHEUMATISM

Sciatica and Neuritis

People who have work to do in the world—who have families dependent upon them and can ill afford to lose time—are the most frequent sufferers from rheumatism, sciatica and neuritis.

The agonizing pains render them unable to carry on their full work—the whole family suffers in a sympathetic but none the less distressing way.

Nurito is a blessing to these people—as it is to all sufferers from rheumatic diseases. It positively relieves the pains with unexpected promptness—usually within a few hours.

It is the prescription of a physician, a well known specialist of high standing, and is thoroughly ethical. Nurito contains neither opium nor narcotics, but gives this prompt relief because it is an antidote—and the first positive one—to the uric acid poison which is the cause of the pain.

Nurito is making a record for itself throughout the country—proof in affidavit form will be shown you on your druggist's $1 and $2 a box Magistral Chemical Co., Flatiron Bldg., N.Y. For sale by J. P. BAKER & SON, and all other leading druggists.
